Ana Yepes teaches Spanish baroque dance according to the following sources :
Esquivel de Navarro, "Discursos sobre el Arte de Danzado", Sevilla 1642, and Juan Antonio Jaque "El Libro de danzar", XVIIth century

Her work on technique and interpretation, as well as the warm-up she proposes are also essential elements of her teaching.

These workshops, ardesed to the students of different levels, are an introduction to the Spanish baroque dance style, in which we will learn the steps and some variations of Españoletas (with "zapateado" variations) and Pavana (Spanish Pavan).

Fot those who already have some experience, the workshops are the continuation of the practice and
